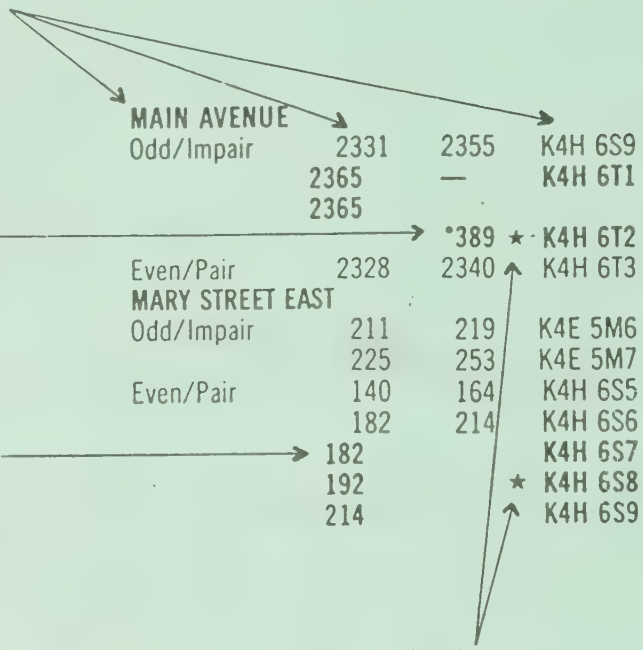
POSTAL CODE DIRECTORY



EXPLANATION OF INFORMATION IN THIS SECTION

1.
The streets are listed alphabetically and broken down into odd and even numbers, as in this example. In the second column are listed the street numbers with the corresponding postal CODE on the same line in the last column.

2.
When an asterisk precedes a number, or group of numbers, in the second column, this number specifies a suite or room number at the address listed on the previous line. This suite or room has a separate postal CODE, listed on the same line in the last column.

3.
Occasionally, street numbers (in this example "182", "192" and "214") are part of a group of numbers ("182-214") which has a particular CODE. These numbers (or number, in some cases) are then repeated on the following lines, in bold face, with different postal CODES. This indicates that at these addresses are located a large business firm or organization, or an apartment or office building, with their own CODES.

4.
The sign (★) identifies a postal CODE assigned exclusively to a customer receiving a large mail volume regularly and the CODE is not to be used by others who may subsequently occupy the same premises.
